There was an lination to follow the wheat market, but there were no independent factors to affect the situation. December opened 1/4c to 3/4c higher on stronger cables, but at once sagged under the pressure of considerable unloading by heavy holders. The cash demand was slow and December ranged between 56%c and 56%c, closing steady, unchanged at 5514c. Receipts were 271 cars. Oats were moderately active, especially for the May account. Heavy local traders began to unload when there was an upward tendency in other grains with a seeming intent to press May under 37c. On the slump numerous commission-house orders steadied the market, and there was a small reaction on coverings toward the close. speculative interests to sustain and advance the stock market continued in evidence to-day. They succeeded in overcomdence to-day. They succeeded in overcom-ing the early weakness, but as the level of $4.87; commercial bills, $4.83@4.8316. Clearprices rose over that of Saturday, their following decreased and the advance lost time and was restricted to a few stocks, notably St. Paul and the Pacifics. The elimination of a large proportion of the short interest, as a result of the advance last week, deprived the market of an important element of strength. It was evident that a sustained advance at this time would have to depend on the efforts $1,365,720. of the large financial powers. These elements were supposed last week to have embarked on a campaign for an advance owing to inside information of plans to settle the Northern Pacific tangle, but apparently last week's reports on that subject were either not well founded or premature. The perception emerges that measures to finance the Northern Pacific settlement are the great object to be attained at present, rather than large ulterior projfinancial powers of the control of St. Paul to Union Pacific as compensation for a relinguishment of the control of Northern Pacific to the Morgan-Hill interests does not find great credence. Such a settlement would not provide for the neutralization of the Burlington system as a competitor of Union Pacific, which was the vital contention of Union Pacific throughout the quarrel. Higher Prices Looked For.

[Granger Farwell & Co.'s Telegram.] NEW YORK, Oct. 14.-The market for most of the session was very irregular and uncertain. St. Paul, however, kept gaining and near the close the whole market, and especially rails, improved in sympathy. Keene brokers were responsible for the strong closing in Southern Pacific. T. J. Taylor & Co.'s circular (T. J. Taylor is Keene's son-in-law) was sent broadcast, and the market is being advanced to give it effect. St. Paul remains the leader and floor traders say the demand is increasing. There seems to be nothing of a substantial nature to account for the advance, but somebody is taking the stock, and that is all that traders care for. It looks as if prices would be higher to-morrow.
